LIVING UP TO OUR BRITISH VALUES AT BRAINTCROFT!

What does 'British values' mean?

According to Ofsted, 'Fundamental British values' is about: democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, mutual respect for and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs, and for those without faith.

Our pupils and staff have embraced and shown respect for British values through exercising their rights to vote for their student leaders and for staff of the month- democracy in action.

Knowing and adhering to our school rules daily, shows understanding of the rule of law, wearing appropriate uniform, and sticking to the class bubbles are new rules, but everyone understands the importance.

In lessons and especially in our new history, geography and pshe curriculum, children have been learning about the freedom to make choices and that there are differences in everyone. We learn to appreciate that we are just not all the same. One of the things we did really well, was celebrating and giving mutual respect to all faiths and religions and we even discovered in classes that many of the people we admire in school do not have a religion. They are still a part of our school family.
