HEALTHY COMMUNITY DAY WAS A SUCCESS!

On Friday the 10th of February, we had our Healthy Community Day activities at school. At Braintcroft we understand that healthy young people are better learners and are more likely to complete their education. Those with a good education are more likely to have better health status.

Promoting well-being is one of the core goals of our school. We aim at developing learning environments that promote and support student well-being – to focus not just on academic success, but also on the whole child so that they may reach their full potential. We recognise and endorse the Healthy Schools programme and are looking at ways to improve our lifestyles.

To create a healthy school, the entire school community works together to help students, staff and parents make healthier choices that promote student wellness and learning. We would like you to support our school's progress towards becoming a healthier school.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HELP US WITH OUR HEALTHY SCHOOL DRIVE?

To get started, talk to us about ideas you have for us becoming a healthier school. Make an appointment to speak to Mr Carter or Mr Goma. Meet them and discuss possible actions to address health priorities. Think about our schools strengths, needs and interests related to health.

Our Head Boy Donnel and his team with their Pupil Voice contribution to the Newsletter.

On Wednesday, 1st February 2023, a few of our teachers took part in a strike that was organised by different unions.

Our Braintcroft Teachers joined with others from across England to participate in this event. Unfortunately, many children were off school on the day but hopefully, they understood the importance of supporting the teachers. We do want them to be happy in their jobs.

Our Student Leaders have interviewed a few teachers to get their opinions on whether the strike is going to make a difference or not.

A year 5 teacher stated that the lack of funding and resources in schools was a reason for striking. The teacher mentioned that if their chants are not taken seriously, there will be more strikes. Teachers also do not like the lack of appreciation the government gives to staff in education.

Another member of staff clearly stated "Nothing is going to happen." To many, this will be a controversial quote but no one can argue with an opinion.

One of our long standing teachers in the classroom had something very interesting to say. She told us that if things do not change, strikes will become a regular thing.

Last, but not least, the issue with the wages. The morale of the teachers never goes down despite them having hard jobs. Their wages haven't gone up, just down. "This will not be our last strike," is what one teacher said. "The government just ignore problems."

Strikes are the last measure of ending wage problems. Warnings were given multiple times but nothing has happened. The teachers all agree that the government are not listening. Many teachers enjoyed the atmosphere on the Strike Day in Central London where there were about 40,000 marchers.
